ABOUT THE GREELEY PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

The Greeley Philharmonic Orchestra is one of only a few orchestras in the United States today to reach the elite status of operating for over a century. It shares this accomplishment with cities much larger than Greeley. The quest for beautiful music was a driving force for area settlers that continues today. We at the GPO carry on that quest to inspire and enrich our community through live symphonic music.

UNION COLONY CIVIC CENTER

The Union Colony Civic Center is Northern Colorado's premier performing arts venue and is proudly owned and operated by the City of Greeley. The UCCC's Monfort Concert Hall has been home to the GPO for 30 years, and has the capacity to seat 1686 patrons.

A DESIRABLE DEMOGRAPHIC

We have patrons of all ages, with more than half aged 45+

Nearly two thirds of our patrons have graduate-level degrees

Nearly three quarters of our patrons earn more than the Greeley average household income

There may be no classical masterpiece that rivals the familiarity and excitement of Beethoven’s Symphony No. 5. Paired with Rossini’s The Barber of Seville Overture and an exquisite performance of Mozart’s Clarinet Concerto, featuring GPO principal clarinetist Robert Vitale, a Masterworks concert has never been so masterfully crafted.
